A Free Sont. He was old and poor, and a stranger
In the great metropolis.
As he bent his step thithorward
To a stately collice.
Outside he inquires. What church is this?"
Church of Christ, "he hears them say;
Ah! just the place I am tooking for;
I trust He is here to-day."

He passed through the spacious columned door
And up the carpeted aisle,
And as he passed, on many a face
He saw surprise and smile.
From pew to pew, up one entire side.
Then across the broad front space;
From pew to pew down the other side
He walked with the same slow pace.

Not a friendly voice had bid him sit
To ilsten to gospel truth:
Not a sign of deference had been paid
To the aged one by youtb.
No door was opened by generous hand,
The pews were paid for-rented,
And he was a stranger, old and poor,
Not a heart to him relented.

As he paused a moment outside to think,
Then sgain passed into the street,
Us to his shoulder he lifted a stone
That lay in the dust at his feet,
as bore it up the broad, grand sisie
In front of the ranks of pews:
Choosing a piace to see and hear,
He made a scat for his use.

Calmly slitting upon the huge stone, Folding his hands on his knees, Slowly reviewing the worshippers. Blowly reviewing the worshippers.

A great confusion he tees.

Biany a cheek is crimsoned with shame,
Some whisper together sore,
And wish they had been more courteous
To the stranger, old and poor.

As if by magic some fifty doors
Open instantaneously.
And as many seats, and books, and hands,
Are proffered hastily.
Changing his stone for a crimson pew,
And wiping a tear away,
He shinks it was a mistake, after all,
And that Christ came late that day.

The preacher's discourse was eloquent, The preacher's discourse was eloquent,
The organ in fluest tone,
But the most impressive sermon heard
Was preached by an humble stone.
Twas a lesson of lowliness and worth
That lodged in many a heart,
And the church preserves that snored stone,
That the truth may not depart. (Albany Times.

DEATH FROM VACCINATION .- A bright fiveyear-old son of Alfred Linderburg, of New York, was vaccinated by one of the Board of Health physicians last August. The scar soon healed; but a bright rash broke out around it and spread slowly until it covered nearly his whole body. Three weeks ago a physician was summoned, who pronounced it chicken-pox, but afforded no relief. Last week another physician pronounced the disease blood-poisoning from vaccination. The boy continued to grow worse, and died on Wednesday. Undertaker Louis Zugner refused for some time to touch the body, fearing that the disease was small-pox. Deputy Coroner McWhinnie was summoned. He said the case was not in his jurisdiction from its nature, and he went away. Dr. Bossert gave a certificate of death, and the body was buried Thanksgiving day. Dr. Bessert says that the case was a very rare one. The child had not the strength to throw off the poisonous matter in the blood. A POOR MAN BECOMES A MILLIONAIRE .-Special to the Baltimore American.]-Norfolk, November 28 .- A singular story has just reached here from Knott's Island, N. C., a few miles distant. Ten or twelve years since a man named Dantel Moss died in California, leaving a fortune of several millions of dollars, but no known relatives. The estate was administered upon by members of the Masonic fraternity, who, after exhausting every effort to discover the legal · claimants to the property without success, used the accruing revenues for charitable purposes. After years of search, a cousin of the deceased has been discovered in the person of William Moss, of Knott's Island, N. C., who can clearly prove his relationship and claim as heir to the estate of the deceased. Moss is very poor, but on the strength of bis claim means have been furpished bim to send a representative to Cali-

A CHARMED LIFE. [Richmond (Ky.) Her-ald:]-A man in Madison county went through the terrible ordeal of having a bombsbell to burst in his bands just after the war. He was dreadfully mangled by the explosion, but recovered from his wounds. Some time after that he was shot through the body with a navy revolver, the ball passing in at the breast and out at the back. Some few weeks ago the same man was driving a wagon with a heavy saw log -on it, and he on the saw log. The wagon turned over, and he and the saw log rolled -off together, the saw log passing over his Thody, erushing him in a frightful manner, from which he has been confined to his bed thor several weeks, but is now out, as hale and hearty as ever.

June, 1872, duly recorded in Hanover County
Court, and of a decree of the Circuit Court of Hanover, entered on the 29th October, 1879, in the case

A portion of these lands are considered among the most valuable in the Valley of the Roanoke. They will be sold in tracts from three to eight hundred acres. Several of the tracts have valuable improvements upon them. That known as "Occonechec." which was the homestead, has upon it a MAGNIFICENT RESIDENCE, and there will be attached to it a large quantity of VERY VALUABLE LOW-GROUNDS. The improvements are comfortable, consisting of a DWELLING, containing five or six rooms, and the usual out-buildings; also, a good orchard. Atlee's station is distant about a quarter of a mile, and affords very convenient access to the place for persons doing business in Richmond, AS THE CARS PASS DAILY FOUR TIMES. VALUABLE LOW-GROUNDS. At the same time and place I shall sell the interest of the said William Townes, deceased (being one half), in the FERRY across the Rosanoke at Clarksville, Va., known as the "CLARKSVILLE FERRY," subject to a lease for two years. This FEURY, though leased at a time of the greatest depression, pays a monthly rental of thirty collars. If to be leased or rented now it would bring a much larger sum. And I shall, at the same time and place, sell SEVERAL HOUSES and LOTS, owned by the said William Townes, deceased, in the town of Clarksville. There is now a fair prospect for the completion of the railroad from Keysville to Clarksville, and if completed this property will soon be doubled in value. cess to the place for persons doing business in Richmond.
